++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny spells and heavy, blustery showers.

Today:
A dry and sunny start for most on Sunday, but scattered showers will develop from the west, these locally heavy and with a risk of hail and thunder. Brisk winds will turn gusty near showers, making it feel chilly. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
Scattered showers at first this evening will tend to become more isolated overnight. Most places will become dry with clear spells, and with the brisk wind easing a little. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Monday:
Monday starts on a largely dry note with bright or sunny spells. Scattered showers will develop during the morning, with the odd heavy and possibly thundery shower in the afternoon. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Some wet and windy weather is likely on Tuesday before turning largely dry and bright on Wednesday. Some sunshine on Thursday following the clearance of any overnight mist and fog.
